TozziniFreire was the first law firm in Brazil to create an exclusive practice area to assist companies in Human Rights issues, officially established in 2020.

The area provides advisory and litigation assistance to companies in human rights matters and their national and international parameters, including (regulatory, legal, and reputational) risk analysis, strategic planning and verification of positive and negative impacts of the company's performance on human rights, following the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights. As a pillar of the ESG Multidisciplinary Group, it encompasses the company's perception of four spheres: (i) the internal public (employees and service providers), (ii) the community in which it operates and its surroundings, (iii) the core activity (service or product generated) and (iv) the production and supply chain.

The key services that we provide for promoting human rights in companies, including the contribution to the "Social" pillar in the ESG criteria, are highlighted as follows.
