

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

Corporate governance is an interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary practice in essence. As a long-term relationship system, it is increasingly necessary and strategic to any organization that intends to stand out in its market field. This area has several correlations with other areas of Law (such as corporate law, contracts, compliance and capital markets), as well as with other sciences (such as business administration, economics, finance, and people management).

In its structural, procedural, personal, and cultural dimensions, corporate governance systems are always improving, responding not only to business crises but also to the challenges of the organizations' setting, financing, and expansion, precisely to recover or improve its reputation with their target audience (stakeholders).

Our team provides strategic advice to boards, committees and companies, as well as other advisory bodies, on corporate governance matters, besides working on processes involving audit and anti-corruption issues. Additionally, we participate in several discussion forums and representative entities regarding the subject, such as IBGC (Brazilian Institute of Corporate Governance) and IBRADEMP (Brazilian Institute of Business Law), promoting studies and discussions for the development of the topic.
