The Brazilian Insurance and Reinsurance market has shown growth over the last years. Insurance is seen as an instrument of protection in times of crisis, and due to the new regulation proposed by the Brazilian (re) insurers regulator, the Superintendence of Private Insurance (SUSEP), the market's relevance tends towards even greater growth. Among the noteworthy recent innovations are: the segregation of the market in large risk insurance and mass insurance, the segmentation of supervised companies according to their size, the Regulatory Sandbox with the advancement of Insurtechs, Open Insurance, the data protection requirement, as well as new types of investments involving greater interaction with capital markets.

Our Insurance and Reinsurance team is prepared to meet its clients' needs in this landscape. It gathers highly capacitated professionals, with Master's and Doctorate degrees as well as LL.Ms, deep knowledge of the insurance and reinsurance market and wide experience in the area.

The team is active on transaction work and also has a strong regulatory practice, including expertise in complex international issues.

Additionally, the Insurance and Reinsurance practice is nestled within a full-service law firm with national presence, interacting with other specialized groups, such as Tax, Labor, Banking, Capital Markets and Anti-trust, according to each client's need.
