

GOVERNMENT RELATIONS

Legal advice on government with international-standard ethics and compliance

Given the complexity of the Brazilian government structure and intricate regulatory framework, it is increasingly necessary for companies to achieve their strategic objectives to act in an organized manner before the Legislative and Executive branches. Our lawyers specializing in Government Relations understand the intersections between business (especially highly regulated businesses) and public policy and are equipped to provide comprehensive legal support to their clients in their government relations, adhering to the highest ethical standards and international compliance requirements.

Our firm's full-service structure, combined with its presence in major Brazilian cities, including Brasília, allows our clients' objectives to be evaluated and implemented by multidisciplinary teams with expertise in all areas of law, as well as in industry sector groups.
