The level of sophistication in the Brazilian hotel and resort industry has increased exponentially over the last decade. This has not only changed the business environment, but has also created legal uncertainties about the compatibility of specific aspects of these operations with Brazilian legislation. One of the key goals of the Hotels and Resorts industry group is to create and implement business structures that are compatible with this legislation and, at the same time, is effective in the allocation of legal risks among market players, such as landowners, hotel operators and investors.

TozziniFreire's Hotel & Resorts industry group has cooperated, on an institutional level, with the most relevant Brazilian organizations in the sector to improve industry regulations and directives.
